

Meet Juno.

The Revolutionary Teaching Tool That Makes Your Job Easier and Learning More Inclusive.

At last, FrontRow's all-new Juno® digital communication platform has arrived – combining the convenience of a portable audio device with the sound quality and educational benefits of an installed system.

But this isn't just your typical "sound system." With Juno, busy teachers can use the time-saving, results-boosting power of lesson capture. If you can say "begin" and "finish," Juno can handle the rest!

Like magic, Juno's exclusive, voice-activated lesson capture feature records teacher and student voices, media audio, and the computer screen, automatically titles this file with the right subject based on your schedule, and helps you post it for students to review at night — all in a format viewable on Windows® or Mac®, smart phones, and more. For your students who are struggling with content or have missed class, the ability to review lessons on their own time can make all the difference in their success – not to mention save you time in having to re-teach.

Getting to Know Juno

Along with giving your students the opportunity to learn at their own pace, Juno provides:

- Easy, seamless connection with any manufacturer's Personal FM system.
- Zero installation or channel management issues.
- Portability so that when your kids move from class to class each year, they can take Juno with them.
- Up to four student microphones to boost participation, give every child a voice, and ensure students with hearing loss can always hear their peers.
- Superior sound coverage that reaches each and every student.
- Full integration with interactive whiteboards, mp3 players, laptops, and other multi-media devices.
- Optional desktop software and other add-on features, based on your unique needs.

Juno ensure every child has equal access to the teacher's voice and all educational content. Up to four pass-around mics can also be used to support increased participation.
